There are so many choices - who to date, when to date, where to go, and who asks who what. It's no wonder teenagers go crazy about it!Cylin Busby offers a different perspective on dating, one that does highlight the many choices, but also shows that choices can be FUN !It's almost Junior Homecoming dance time and you are dateless. Your best friend is the head of the dance committee and invites you to join, your last chance to maybe find a date !This is the premise from which this choose-your-own-boyfriend-date-adventure begins. From this seemingly simple, but highly stressful situation for any teenaged girl, Busby creates 20 different intricate story lines, each with many decisions, reactions, consequences, and choices to make. Readers can't put this down until they've tried them all! Reviewed by: Erika Adams, aka "The Bookbinder"

KurzbeschreibungThe junior homecoming dance is right around the corner. And there you are-without a date. Your best friend invites you to join the decorating committee; she swears the quiet guy in your English class is going to be there. Another friend is eager to hit the mall in search of the perfect dress. If the football players just happen to be hanging out in the food court, all the better! To decorate, or not to decorate? Vintage dress or just-arrived-instores chic? And at every turn of a page, there is the question of your date. Will you land the guy you want? Or will you go to the dance alone, if you go at all?
